INTRODUCTION AND ORGANISATIONAL HISTORY

This accession consists of records generated by the Northwest Territories Public Service Association (NWTPSA) and the Union of Northern Workers (UNW) between 1970 and 1994.

With the adoption of Yellowknife as the capital site for the NWT in 1967, the federal government established a territorial civil service. At that time the employees of the Government of the NWT were represented by the Public Service Alliance of Canada (PSAC) and the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada (PIPSC).

Between 1967 and 1968, a number of GNWT employees began a campaign to organise their own union in the NWT. Commissioner Stuart Hodgson, and Assistant Commissioner John Parker dealt with each complaint.

Harold Franklin and Keith McGinnis contacted other unions to obtain copies of collective agreements. Then they contacted territorial employees in communities outside Yellowknife to gauge their reaction to the creation of a union. As initial reaction was favourable, Keith McGinnis and Harold Franklin began a campaign to get union cards signed by territorial employees across the NWT. They received funding from the PSAC to assist their work and also raised funds through weekly raffles.

When the two men felt they had sufficient union cards signed, they approached Claude Edwards, the PSAC President in Ottawa. Mr. Edwards had a meeting with Commissioner Stuart Hodgson, and at that time the Commissioner agreed that sufficient cards had been signed to warrant the formation of a new union.

The union organisers arranged a founding convention for the new union. The convention was held in Yellowknife in 1970. Harold Franklin was appointed the Vice-President, Marge Porter became the Secretary-Treasurer, Kieth McGinnis was appointed President and James Wah-Shee was appointed as the first RVP for Fort Smith.

After the convention, amendments were made to the Public Service Ordinance. The amendments empowered the Commissioner of the NWT to establish and regulate a bargaining association for territorial employees, to establish the NWTPSA, and to recognise it as the only authorised bargaining agent for territorial employees.

In June 1970, the first collective bargaining sessions between the NWTPSA and the territorial government commenced. The first collective agreement was negotiated within ten days.

The NWTPSA organised its members into locals, arranged for the election of local officials and regional vice-presidents, and provided training for all the newly elected officers. In 1970 there were five locals within the NWTPSA.

In 1988 the NWTPSA changed its name to the Union of Northern Workers (UNW). At that time, the UNW consisted of 13 locals: Local X0001-Yellowknife and Rae; Local X0002-Fort Smith; Local X0003-Inuvik; Local X0004-Keewatin; Local X0005-Baffin; Local X0006-Hay River; Local X0007-Kitikmeot; Local X0008-Baffin trades; Local X0009-Yellowknife Correctional Centre; Local X0010-Yellowknife Dept. of Public Works; Local X0011-Stanton Yellowknife Hospital; Local X0013-Fort Simpson. Local X0007 had two sub-locals, one in Gjoa Haven and one in Coppermine.

By 1988 the UNW had eight regional vice-presidents that reported directly to the President. Each of these RVP's attended, and had voting rights at the regular tri-yearly meetings of the Full Executive. The RVP's, 1st VP, 2nd VP and President continue to be elected at the Triennial Conventions.

By 1995 the President and RVP's (with the exception of the Kitikmeot RVP) were full-time salaried employees of the UNW, who were seconded from other employers for three-year terms. The 1st VP was made a salaried employee of the UNW on April 1995, but the position of 2nd VP was still a voluntary one.

In 1995 the GNWT employees were represented by the Sombak'e RVP (Local's X0001 and X0016 Yellowknife); Keewatin RVP (Local's X0004, X0024, and X0018); Inuvik RVP (Local's X0003 and X0019); Fort Smith RVP (Local's X0002 and X0012); Baffin RVP (Local's X0005, X0008, X0015 and X0017); Hay River RVP (Local's X0006, X0013, X0021 and X0022); Kitikmeot RVP (Local's X0007, X007A and X0020) and the North Great Slave RVP (Local's X0009, X0010, X0011 and X0023).

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This accession consists of 180 black and white and colour photographs, 30 VHS cassette recordings, 1 Beta cassette recording, 102 sound cassettes, 8 reel to reel tapes, and 3.5 metres of textual records generated by the Northwest Territories Public Service Association (NWTPSA) and the Union of Northern Workers (UNW) between 1970 and 1994.

The records have been arranged into four series: textual records, photographs, sound recordings and moving images. The textual records have been organised into six sub-series: Sub-Series I - Minutes of Full Executive Meetings; Sub-Series II - Minutes of the Triennial Conventions; Sub-Series III - Minutes of Meetings of NWTPSA and UNW Locals; Sub-Series IV - Newsletters; Sub-Series V - Collective Agreements; and Sub-Series VI - UNW Filing System.

In sub-series VI the original alpha-numeric order of the filing system has been maintained, as has the original chronological order within each file folder. The records in sub-series I, II, III and IV have been arranged in chronological order. The collective agreements in sub-series V have been arranged in alphabetical order according to the official name of the bargaining units.

The photographs have been arranged according to the original subject classification system created by the UNW. Within each subject classification the images were then arranged chronologically by the archivist. A detailed item listing is available of the images.

The sound recordings and the video cassette recordings have been arranged by subject, and then listed chronologically within each subject area. A detailed item listing is also available of these records.

These records document the development of the union movement in the north, and the increasing politicization of its members. They also document the administration of the NWTPSA, the UNW and various locals, and their relationship with the PSAC. The records provide a history of the development of the union movement throughout the NWT.

SUB-SERIES V - COLLECTIVE AGREEMENTS - 1970-1996.

This series consists primarily of the printed editions of collective agreements. However there are a number of original signed copies of the first collective agreements for some bargaining units. If the originals are available, this has been noted in the item list. The series also contains Inuktitut versions of some collective agreements. Again, these have been noted in the item list. The collective agreements document the increase in benefits and the improvement in working conditions obtained by the NWTPSA and the UNW for its members. They also depict the growth of the NWTPSA and the UNW as the primary bargaining unit for workers throughout the NWT.

Note: The collective agreements have been arranged in alphabetical order according to the name of the bargaining unit.
